Remarks :

This 1983 centre cockpit Hallberg Rassy 352 has been well minded by her owner since 2007. She is powered by a 2022 Vetus 42hp shaft driven diesel engine with only 375 hours. Her inventory includes fully battened slab reefing mainsail, furling genoa, cruising chute, storm jib (on separate forestay), hot air heating, hot water, chart-plotter, auto-pilot, seven berths, davits, dinghy and much. She is fine solid cruising yacht and worth traveling to view!

Accommodation :

Builders Comments

Hallberg-Rassy built 802 HR352s between 1978 and 1991. The HR352 was from the start a substantial sales success. This was the first time a designer had managed to combine, in a 35 foot boat, a walk through to the aft-cabin with spectacularly elegant lines. She features a comfortable interior combined with pleasant sailing qualities.

Construction

The hull (No. 343) is a solid GRP moulding, built according to Lloyd's specifications. With a long encapsulated iron fin keel and skeg-hung rudder on heavy cast bronze fittings. The deck is a sandwich GRP moulding, using polyvinyl cellular plastics as core material. The water and fuel tanks are fitted in the keel stub to improve stability. The teak deck was removed and has been painted (Kiwi Grip) and looks excellent.

The Topsides are in very good condition, having been repainted a few years ago with epoxy primer and two pack polyurethane, this includes the blue sheer strake.&nbsp;

Rigging and Sails

Selden anodised alloy spars

Deck stepped mast with a single set of spreaders (standard mast)

Standing rigging was inspected in 2022

2022 Forestay, backstay and upper cap shrouds

Reckmann furling headstay

Removable inner forestay (takes a 2003 Storm Jib)

Spinnaker pole&nbsp;

Sails

Slab reefing fully battened mainsail with 3 x reefing points

Lazy jacks and lazy bag

2002 Furling genoa with UV Strip

Cruising chute with detachable bow sprit

2003 Storm jib

Electrics

Broker's Comments "Passade" has been very well minded and has had a fair amount of upgrading in her ownership since 2007. She can&nbsp;easily be sailed single handed and really is a nice example of a HR 352. Viewing is highly recommended.
