Accommodation :

The flybridge features a single helm seat, forward bench seat, table and additional bench seating. The seat backs can be repositioned to create aft-facing seating and a sun pad area. Access to the flybridge is via a ladder through an extra-large hatch from the cockpit below.

The spacious cockpit offers seating and a table, along with a large cockpit locker with twin access hatches. A transom door leads to the aft platform, and there is a generous transom locker with space for a life raft.

A three-section sliding door provides access into the saloon. Inside, the saloon has seating and a dining table to port, which converts into a double berth. To starboard is the galley area and helm position. One of the saloon bench seats cleverly tips forward to create a raised, forward-facing double navigator's seat. There are sliding windows to both port and starboard, curtains throughout, and an engine access hatch in the floor.

Moving forward, the second cabin is located to port and features two full-size single bunks, with the heads compartment to starboard. In the bow, the forward cabin offers a double berth, hanging locker and additional storage.
